Arcplace meets ISO standard

Arcplace AG achieves ISO 27001 certification for information security.

Zürich, 11th April, 2013

Arcplace AG, Swiss specialists in the fields of scanning, data management, archiving and backup, has been certified by SQS to ISO 27001. SQS, Switzerland's leading organisation for certification and assessment services, audited Arcplace's information security management system and how it is implemented.

The certification process identifies and minimises risks associated with information security. It covers the technical, organisational and operational aspects of information security and confirms that the certified company's processes, services and IT systems meet the required security standard.

"The certification process itself was extremely valuable for us," said Robbert Spierings, Managing Director of Arcplace AG. "It made us even more aware that information as an asset needs to be protected. It was also important to have the whole company pulling in the same direction."

ISO/IEC 27001 certification is valid internationally and recognised by IQNet Partners across the world.

"Now our customers can be confident that our approach to information security meets stringent international standards," concludes Spierings.
