Arcplace expands its offering

Zurich, Friday January 26, 2007

Arcplace, a growing provider of information management and archiving solutions to the Swiss enterprise market, today announces the expansion of its portfolio with solutions to automate invoice processing, digitize paper archives, automate mailroom processing and manage personnel files.

By expanding its offering, Arcplace is positioned to support organizations of all sizes and exploit the latest digital archiving, content management, data capture and storage technologies - to increase efficiency, minimize risks linked to non-compliance and reduce operational costs. In order to quantify the benefits of deploying these new solutions, Arcplace can now support clients with detailed ROI calculations. For compliance aspects, Arcplace offers consulting modules for assessing the Swiss and international regulatory requirements.

Robbert Spierings, Arcplace Managing Director stated, "Because our clients look to Arcplace for applying the latest digital archiving and document management technologies to optimize important business processes, we are very pleased to now offer a comprehensive set of pre-packaged solutions that can be rapidly deployed and integrated with existing back-end applications." Spierings added, "We look forward to working together with our existing and future clients and partners to define and deploy solutions that will truly enhance their bottom-lines."
